County's Preliminary Redistricting Plan Places Greenbelt in District 3

by Thomas X. White

The Prince George's County Redistricting Commission has published its preliminary redistricting plan and has scheduled a public hearing on the proposed plan on Saturday, August 13 from 10 a.m. to noon at the County Administration Building, 14741 Governor Oden Bowie Drive in Upper Marlboro. The proposed plans can be obtained at the Commission's website www.princegeorgescountymd.gov/Redistricting2011.

Of interest to Greenbelters, the preliminary plan has placed the City of Greenbelt in a newly configured District 3, which will include Greenbelt, Berwyn Heights, College Park, University Park, Riverdale Park and New Carrollton. The majority of the new District 3 comprises those six municipalities and in addition a few islands of unincorporated areas within the District, mostly along East-West Highway (Rte. 410) east of Kenilworth Avenue.

Apparently the driving force for moving Greenbelt from District 4, where it has been overshadowed by Bowie for several decades, was the City of Bowie's desire to have its growing boundaries confined within one district. If the preliminary plan is adopted, the long salamander-shaped District 4 will morph into a more regularly shaped and compact district as will the other four councilmanic districts in northern Prince George's County.

The City of Laurel remains the prominent municipality in District 1 but that district will push eastward to the new northern boundary of District 4. The new District 4, dominated by a growing City of Bowie, pushes westward to the Seabrook and Lanham areas (District 5).

Commission Members

The redistricting effort began early in 2011 with the Prince George's County Council's appointment of a three-member Redistricting Commission pursuant to Section 305 of the Prince George's County Charter, which sets forth procedures for redistricting the council districts following the decennial census. Members of the Commission are Sharron R. Taylor, a communications expert and county employee; David C. Harrington, a former member of the county council and former Maryland State Senator; and Tamara Davis-Brown, a local attorney.

The Commission has utilized the services of Dr. Nathaniel Persily who is director of the Center for Law and Politics at the Columbia University Law School and a recognized expert in redistricting law.

Following Saturday's public hearing and further deliberations by the Commission, the Redistricting Plan and the Commission Report are due by September 1, 2011.

After receiving the Commission's proposed plan and report, the county council will schedule its own public hearing on the plan at the end of September.

City Council Poised to Revise Ethics Code Per New State Law

by Kathleen Gallagher

Few Marylanders would be surprised to hear that the state has been focusing attention on ethical issues: from voting irregularities in state and county elections to charges of bribery, extortion, fraud and conspiracy in Prince George's County.

Cutting a wide swath across the state right now is a bill (SB 315) enacted by the state legislature last year and signed into law by Governor O'Malley on May 4, 2010. Its goal is to require county and municipal elected officials and members of boards of education to adhere to conflict of interest standards and financial disclosure requirements that are "equivalent to or exceed" the state's requirements for its own officials. At the same time, the law provides that the state provisions should be modified to the extent necessary to make them relevant to the situation of the jurisdiction. The law also includes provisions for the registration of lobbyists.

The changes will affect all of Maryland's counties and at least the 83 municipalities in the state, including Greenbelt, that have ethics ordinances previously approved by the State Ethics Commission. Not unexpectedly, an ethics bill touching much of the state proved popular with the legislature. Co-sponsored by 27 senators, it passed in the State Senate by a vote of 46-0 and in the House of Delegates by a vote of 138-0.

Local government jurisdictions must adopt the required changes by October 1, the deadline by which they must certify compliance to the State Ethics Commission. Since the Greenbelt City Council has only three more regular meetings at which to adopt revisions before then, the pressure is on to produce an updated code.

Ethics Worksession

At its Wednesday, August 3 worksession, council met with City Solicitor Robert Manzi and city staff to discuss revisions. Mayor Pro Tem Emmett Jordan conducted the meeting in the absence of Mayor Judith Davis. All other councilmembers were present, as were City Manager Michael McLaughlin, Assistant City Manager David Moran and City Clerk Cindy Murray. Pamela Gregory, chair of the city's Board of Elections, also attended.

According to documents available on the website of the State Ethics Commission (ethics.gov.state.md.us) the need for the change is not that existing local codes have been deemed deficient but rather to establish more consistent definitions and criteria statewide. The inconsistencies evolved because in the past state law required only that local codes be "similar" to the state code. The "similar" standard remains in effect for local government employees and non-elected officials, such as those on city boards and committees, who are required to file, though the jurisdiction has the option of applying "equivalent" standards to both elected and non-elected persons.

At Jordan's request, Manzi gave an overview of the requirements and then explained that the task for Greenbelt will not prove as onerous as it otherwise might appear for several reasons. One is that while the city's code was previously approved on the basis of being "similar" to the state law, it is in fact similar enough that the changes in practice will

City Questions Concerning Reuse of Middle School

August 4, 2011

Dr. William R. Hite, Jr.
Superintendent
Prince George's County Schools
14201 School Lane
Upper Marlboro, MD 20772

Dear Superintendent Hite:

As you know, the City of Greenbelt has been working to develop ideas and concepts for the reuse and renovation of the Greenbelt Middle School. The City-appointed Greenbelt Middle School Task Force (GMSTF) submitted an interim report to the City Council on June 20, 2011. A summary copy of the report is enclosed and full copies have been previously provided to School Board member Peggy Higgins and Paul Taylor of the Capital Improvement Office. In a letter dated July 11, 2011, the City expressed interest in the future of the existing Greenbelt Middle School. To date, the City Council has held two work sessions, July 13 and 25, to review and consider the implications of the report.

All this has been done with the intent of providing specifics on the City's interest in the building by August/September of this year, so that the school system could begin design work for the renovation of the existing middle school as requested by the school system.

School Board member Higgins serves on the task force and understands the complexity of this effort. We hope you appreciate it also. The City remains most interested in the future of the existing middle school, but needs more time to conduct its

City Council Considers Ban On Smoking in the Center

by Kathleen Gallagher

At its worksession on Wednesday, August 3 the Greenbelt City Council took another step in the direction of what is shaping up as all deliberate speed toward banning smoking in the core of Roosevelt Center. Led by Mayor Pro Tem Emmett Jordan, council reviewed recommendations of its advisory groups and agreed to postpone further discussion until its Monday, August 22 stakeholder meeting with members of the Roosevelt Center Merchants Association. Mayor Judith Davis was away but all other members of council were in attendance.

considerations, including obtaining input from the Greenbelt citizenry. There are also a number of questions for which answers are needed:

1. What are the requirements on the school system for the future of this building? It has been the City's understanding that the school system is required to continue to retain any portion of the building that is more than 50 years old.

2. The options recommended in the GMSTF report focus on the renovation/use of the portions of the building that face Edmonston Road. Is it possible for planning work to begin on these sections while the City continues its considerations related to the rest of the building?

3. The demolition of the 1969 wing in order to provide room for a reconfigured bus lot is viewed by some as a possible waste of usable building. Are there options related to the bus lot? Can the existing one be moved somewhere else? Is the area of the 1969 wing necessary for future bus parking?

4. Other than possible use by the City of Greenbelt, are there any other uses/plans for the building under consideration by the school system? What would likely happen to the building if it were not transferred to the City?

5. Finally, are you, School Board member Higgins and appropriate school system staff available to meet in a work session with the City Council on August 24, 29 or September 7?

The City greatly appreciates the assistance and involvement from School Board member Higgins and Paul Taylor, Director of the Capital Improvement Program Office.

Sincerely,

Judith F. Davis
Mayor

Keep the Heart, Hold the Raunch

"Crazy, Stupid Love" comes to the Old Greenbelt Theatre this Friday, August 12 for one week, to be followed by "Sarah's Key." Three generations of moonstruck, cynical or wounded lovers suffer and grow in self-awareness in this witty, generous-hearted romantic comedy.

Informed by his wife Emily (Julianne Moore) that she is having an affair with a coworker (Kevin Bacon) and wants a divorce, Cal (Steve Carell) determines to get revenge by unleashing his (nonexistent) inner Don Juan after taking lessons in studsmanship from Jacob (Ryan Gosling), a slick lounge lizard who is then uncharacteristically rebuffed by law student Hannah (Emma Stone). Thus you have multiple plot twists and more than one surprise. Rating PG13. Running time 107 minutes.

The Golden Age Club has something positive to report – the bench in memory of Bill Souser has been placed in a very nice setting by the library. Many thanks to Joan Baker and Public Works for their help. Thanks for all the donations that made this possible. A dedication ceremony will be held by the club at a later date.

We discussed telephone scams at our last meeting. Be aware – they seem to prey on seniors. Several members stated that caller ID is a help.

The club has lost two members recently. Our condolences to the families of John Taylor and Jim Holohan. John was our travel person and Jim and Leney were very active members.

Upcoming Meetings

The birthday luncheon will be on August 17 and on August 24 we'll play Bingo. David Lange will speak on the ongoing project of the middle school on August 31.

The Talent Show, intended for budding stars, is not competitive.

Performers must live or work in Greenbelt or attend a local school. Some entrants have gone on to pursue their talent as a continuing hobby – even as a vocation.

Co-chairmen for the event this year are Rick Ransom and Doug Tull, both longtime band performers themselves. Auditions for a slot in the limited time frame will be held at the Community Center on Wednesday, August 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 114 and on Saturday, August 20 from 4 to 6 p.m. in Room 202.

Mary C. England

Mary Clare Bonham England, 88, died August 1, 2011, at Brooke Grove Retirement Village in Sandy Spring, Md., after a brief illness.

Mrs. England was a daughter of widow Bertha Bonham's Greenbelt pioneer family of five, which in October 1937 moved into the 28th house to open in Greenbelt. Her mother was the Town Clerk in early Greenbelt days and also assisted in renting houses for the government's Public House Administration.

As a Greenbelt High School student, Mary Clare won a city contest and $25 for her simple green pine tree design of the Greenbelt flag which still flies today next to the Municipal Building. A scholarship student, she received a B.A. degree in English from the University of Maryland and later, a master's in library science from Catholic University.

Upon her marriage, she and her husband, the late historian J. Merton England, moved to an apartment on Parkway. They spent some years at the University of Kentucky in Lexington where their four children were born and later returned to the Washington area, settling in Kensington, Md. Working in the Montgomery County library system, Mrs. England eventually became head librarian of the Chevy Chase library. She also was active for years in the Cedar Lane Unitarian Church and many volunteer organizations.

Predeceased by her sister Virginia as well as her husband, Mrs. England is survived by children Leslie (Hampton) DeJarnette of Silver Spring, Mark (Ellen) of Damascus, Stephen (Joan) of Chevy Chase and Bruce (Ellen) of Auburn, Ind. She is also survived by a brother, Bob Bonham of Renaissance Gardens (Riderwood) and a sister, Barbara Young, of Ridge Road, as well as four grandchildren.

Memorial services were held on August 6 at the Cedar Lane church. Contributions in her memory may be made to Cedar Lane Unitarian Church, 9601 Cedar Lane, Bethesda, MD or www.cedarlane.org or the National Marfan Foundation at www.marfan.org.

Condolences to Allen Law and his family on the sudden death of his son Seng Hon Law ("Donald"), 35, on July 30, 2011. Many of Allen's friends and co-workers at Co-op attended the visitation August 4 and service August 5.

We were saddened to hear of the death of pioneer Greenbelter Mary Clare Bonham England on August 1, 2011. A graduate of Greenbelt High School's class of 1939, she designed the pine-tree flag which still represents our city today. Our sympathy to her sister Barbara Young.

Congratulations to:

— Alex Molden, son of Tony and Sharon Molden, who is playing in the Cal Ripken World Series in Aberdeen, Md., following a tournament at Cooperstown, N.Y., this week. Alex's dad Tony played Greenbelt baseball as a child and for Eleanor Roosevelt High School and Prince George's Community College. The family lives in North Carolina, where all five Molden boys play baseball. Alex's twin Colin helped his team win the series in the 10 and under league in Colorado two years ago. Alex's Greenbelt grandmother Patricia Madden Molden and his aunts and uncles are looking forward to watching him play.

GREENHILL/HILLSIDE ROADS STREAM STABILIZATION PROJECT CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY

The construction of the Greenhill/Hillside Roads Stream Stabilization Project is underway. The project area includes approximately 600 LF of stream that runs from the Hillside Road Underpass to where the concrete channel starts downstream. The proposed stream stabilization work includes grading stream banks, installing a coastal plain outfall, a series of step pools, replacing a damaged concrete swale with a closed storm drain system and the removal of a failing culvert. The stabilization work will result in reduced sediment/silt loads to Greenbelt Lake and will promote groundwater infiltration in the new coastal plain outfall. The project is expected to be completed in 90 days.

The contractor performing the work is McDonnell Landscape, Inc. The project is being substantially funded by a grant from the Maryland Department of the Environment. The City and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. have also contributed funding.

If you have any questions please call Terri Hruby, Assistant Planning Director at (301) 474-0569 or email her at thruby@greenbeltdmd.gov.

The council has until November 30 to act on the plan. If the county council does not pass another law (plan) as an act of the council, the submitted plan becomes law.

Redistricting Plan

The Charter requires the Commission to develop a redistricting plan that provides for representative districts that are compact (fairly regular in shape with constituents all living near each other); contiguous (all parts of the district connected to each other); and equal in population (not deviating more than 5 percent of the average district population). The Commission's website contains a tabulation of the target district populations for both the 2000 and the more recent 2010 censuses.

For the 2010 Census, all five of the northern county districts (1-5) are well within the range of plus or minus 5 percent. The 4 southern county districts (6-9) all exceed the plus or minus 5 percent range (-5.24 percent to +10.04 percent). The total population increase for Prince George's County tabulated for the 2010 Census was approximately 62,000.

In looking at the overall redistricting map with the proposed changes, all districts appear to be compact and contiguous but population-wise, District 6 had the largest population gain. It deviates from the guideline by slightly more than +5 percent.

District 9, which is the largest (by land area) district in the county, exceeds the population guideline by only +0.38 percent. District 7 actually lost population but its target population exceeds the guideline by -2.24 percent.

not be overwhelming. Another is that the State Ethics Commission has provided model policies and forms, which most jurisdictions will take and modify rather than attempt to rewrite their own code. Last but not least Greenbelt can in part ride on the coattails of another city. Manzi also serves as city solicitor for the City of Laurel, which has already modified one of the model policies for its use and submitted it to the state for review.

What's New?

Greenbelt officials are accustomed to the drill for filing financial disclosure forms. Council, some staff and the members of the Advisory Planning Board and the Board of Appeals are required to file by April 30 for the prior calendar year. That deadline will remain unchanged, although the sample forms are somewhat more detailed. A person filing to run as a candidate for city council must also submit a statement of financial interest at that time if not required to do so by April 30 as an official.

For Greenbelt the biggest changes to the process may be the following:

City Ethics Commission

The city council must establish a city ethics commission with rather wide-ranging authority to interpret and enforce the code, hear complaints and certify the city's compliance annually with the state. This commission would assume some responsibilities currently assigned to the city clerk, the city solicitor and the city council. Assigning this function to an existing appointed board might be possible but a separate commission sounds more likely. Jordan asked Pamela Gregory if she thought the Board of Elections could fill this role. She said the board had not discussed it but she thought it likely that they would consider it to be outside their purview.

Lobbyists

Another area of change involves the requirement for lobbyists to register with the city. The current city ethics code includes a requirement, which has not netted many lobbyists in the past, that anyone personally appearing before a city official or employee with the purpose of influencing the individual in the performance of official duties must file as a lobbyist if the person anticipates spending at least $100 during the calendar year on food, entertainment or other gifts for such officials. The sample code instead provides a definition involving the extent to which the lobbyist is being compensated for the work or is expending funds on the furtherance of the activity.

Manzi explained that typically lobbyists would be advocating for something that would yield financial gain either to themselves or to an organization they represent. He said people arguing for matters of public good rather than private good are not usually lobbying, nor is providing information on a topic considered to be lobbying.

Staff Requirements

In terms of filing requirements, the biggest new burden will likely be on city staff. Currently, the only city staff member required to file a complete statement of financial interest is the city manager. In the absence of a known conflict of interest, employees classified at a salary level of 15 or above are required routinely to file only the section of the form on receipt of gifts. If the "equivalent" standard is applied to employees, they would have to complete the whole form. The sample code also determines which employees are required to file by job function/title rather than by salary grade, so there will likely be some change in which employees are required to file.

Notarization

About seven years ago Greenbelt dropped its requirement that the financial disclosure forms be notarized. A notary attests only to a signature. Since the persons required to submit the forms were all known personally to the city clerk, who received the forms, the notarization served little purpose. In fact, tardy officials cited the notarization requirement as a stumbling block to timely filing. The "equivalent" standard will apparently require a step backward in this regard.

Council directed Manzi to proceed with adapting the sample code, based upon Laurel's, as a first draft for Greenbelt.

Included in the ban were fully enclosed fenced areas such as the outdoor pool, tennis courts and dog park; areas within 25 feet of the entrance of indoor recreation facilities; and areas within 25 feet of outdoor park facilities not fully enclosed by a fence, such as ball fields, playgrounds and outdoor basketball courts.

In addition to endorsement of the PRAB recommendation at the November meeting, council members spoke in favor of extending the restrictions even further.

Roosevelt Center

Councilmember Rodney Roberts proposed extending the ban to Roosevelt Center, which had been excluded within the definitions in the PRAB report. Councilmember Leta Mach supported Roberts' proposal, adding that she would also like to see smoking prohibited within 25 feet of the entrance to all city buildings, comparable to the current prohibition for state buildings.

Councilmember Konrad Herring voiced concern that the three-foot buffer of private property alongside the commercial establishments in the center might become a haven for smokers who could no longer use the area of the city tables and benches. He asked that extending the ban to the center be referred back to PRAB. Subsequently CRAB and YAC were added to the referral list. At Mach's request, the issue of banning smoking 25 feet from the entrance to all city buildings was also referred to staff. It is still pending.

Advisory Group Support

The three advisory group reports all express unanimous support for making the plaza area of Roosevelt Center a smoke-free park. All three groups also stated the need for a designated smoking area that could be used by employees of center businesses, as well as by shoppers or visitors. Various sites were suggested as locations for a designated smoking area, a topic that may prove thornier than the ban itself.

Council decided to include that item on the agenda of its August 22 meeting with Roosevelt Center merchants. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building.

Condo Back-up Due To Mechanical Failure

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission issued an emergency advisory last weekend that mechanical failure at the Greenbriar wastewater pumping station had caused a sanitary sewer overflow. Approximately 46,000 gallons of wastewater overflowed during the incident, which began at about 12:15 a.m. and was brought under control about 5:45 a.m.

While no waterways were affected, sewage back-up into a nearby condominium necessitated temporary relocation from at least four units.

Noted Statue Displayed At National Gallery

One of the best-preserved and most famous masterpieces from Roman antiquity, the Capitoline Venus, is on loan to the United States for the first time and may be viewed at the National Gallery of Art, West Building Rotunda, through September 5.

Unearthed in Rome in the 1670s, the Capitoline Venus was given in 1752 by Pope Benedict XIV to the Capitoline Museum, the first art museum in the world open to the general public. The work was among the trophies Napoleon Bonaparte had seized after his invasion of Italy and which he took to Paris in 1797.

Returned in 1816, the sculpture quickly became a highlight for travelers to Europe, including Mark Twain, who was inspired to write the short story, "The Capitoline Venus."

This exhibit is organized by Roma Capitale, Sovraintendenza ai Beni Culturali – Musei Capitolini and the National Gallery of Art, with the partnership of the Knights of Columbus and the Embassy of the Republic of Italy, Washington.

ACE Leaders Make Plans for Science Club

The Greenbelt Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) met on June 28. A major item of business was election of selected officers, chair, vice chair and treasurer. Following much discussion, Jon Gardner was re-elected chair, Alla Lake re-elected vice chair and Susan Breon was elected treasurer. All votes were unanimous.

Science Club

Joseph Tosado, ACE Science Club leader, led a discussion about plans for the 2011-2012 ACE Science Club. Members have been enthusiastic about the content of the Science Club meetings and are trying to find ways to increase attendance.

The club meets once a month during the school year in both Greenbelt Center and Greenbelt East. Currently they are searching for a new location in Greenbelt East as well as for more ways to communicate about the program with parents and students.

Leaders hope to market the club more aggressively through flyers in student backpacks to the three elementary schools that serve Greenbelt plus Turning Point Academy and Greenbelt Middle School for grades 3 through 8.

They also plan to advertise online for Tosado's Science Club website and write articles for the Greenbelt News Review.

The committee discussed deferring the start of the Science Club next term to October so in September Tosado could attend PTA meetings at Greenbelt and Magnolia Elementary Schools to spark interest in parents and students through a Science Club demonstration. ACE plans to discuss this project with the Greenbelt City Council when it meets August 15.

Reading Club

ACE members are unanimously interested in continuing the same format of having the Reading Club at the end of the school day at Springhill Lake Elementary School.

Labor Day Parade

For a number of years ACE award winners (students and educators) and committee members, all wearing ACE T-shirts, have participated in the city's Labor Day parade. Alla Lake will be responsible for registering ACE for the parade. All ACE winners from this year will be contacted about participating; Susan Breon will be point person for the parade.

The next ACE meeting will take place on Tuesday, August 23 at 7 p.m. in the city council chambers.

Why Is It Necessary To Replace Missing Teeth?

Dr. David McCarl, Dr. Clayton McCarl,
Dr. Monica Mattson, Dr. Jay McCarl
McCarl Dental Group

Replacing a missing tooth is important for several reasons. When you lose a tooth, your jawbone gradually loses strength and firmness, causing bone loss and changes in facial features. The loss of even one tooth can cause an unstable bite and chewing problems. Because remaining teeth often shift, proper cleaning becomes more difficult leading to periodontal problems and tooth decay. Teeth that have shifted no longer fit together properly, which can create excessive wear, headaches, and many other problems. There are also concerns associated with the appearance of a smile with missing teeth. First impressions are made at a glance and nothing makes a better impression than a beautiful smile. Most adults feel extremely self-conscious about a gap in their smile.

A dental implant restored with a crown looks, feels and functions like a natural tooth. Dental implants are safe, reliable and effective for single and multiple tooth restoration. Implants are made of a biocompatible titanium alloy and are placed in the jawbone, where they fuse to the bone, replacing the root of the tooth. In many cases, a temporary crown can be placed on the tooth immediately and replaced with a permanent crown. Implants typically last a long time (they won't decay), and they are the best restorations in cases where the neighboring teeth are healthy and properly aligned.

With the recent advances in minimally invasive dental implants, more patients are candidates for permanent tooth replacement. Mini dental implants are popular because of their immediate use and also because they are less invasive, less expensive, and heal faster than traditional implants. The most common use of mini dental implants is stabilization of dentures.

The bottom line for many dental implant patients is that for the first time since they have had dentures, they can actually talk and chew without being afraid that their dentures will fall out or shift causing sores in their mouths. Patients are able to remove and replace the denture easily so that they can clean their gums and dentures daily.

Every dentist should listen to their patients' concerns and goals for dental health and present a range of treatment options so the patient can choose a plan which best suits their dental needs.

National Night Out Event Rocks Greenbelt West

by Jonathan Taylor

It was National Night Out in Greenbelt on August 2. Nine events took place in neighborhoods across the city on that 100 degree night but free food, upbeat music, a new location and a strong public-private partnership between the Greenbelt Police Department, Beltway Plaza Mall and Franklin Park at Greenbelt Station made the event at 6000 Greenbelt Road the hottest ticket in town.

At right, dinner is served! Residents from nearby Franklin Park wait to munch on a pasta and pizza spread provided by Beltway Plaza Mall.

Below, Samone, 10, and Kali, 9, dress up the logo for Joe's Crab Shack with glitter and smiles.

Join this club – motorcycle enthusiasts “Face,” “Long” and “Militant” of the Platinum Rollers roll in with a Bike Night invitation for all Greenbelters. “We meet every Wednesday at T.G.I. Friday’s,” said Face. “You don’t have to ride to come out.”
